Jefferson County
Human Services

Outpatient Mental Health & AODA
Clinic

Services

The Outpatient Mental Health and AODA Clinic serves Jefferson County residents with mental health and substance abuse concerns.

Participants of the program are assessed for strengths and needs; the principles of hope and empowerment are integrated into the clinic service. A treatment plan is created using the consumer's own strengths and resources to increase their potential for leading the life they want. Services are provided in the least restrictive setting; decreasing the disruption of the individual's life while still providing for recovery.

The clinic employs: seven full-time staff with master's degrees in Social Work, Counseling or Psychology, one of whom works part-time in the jail, substance abuse counselor, a Community Outreach Worker, and two full-time crisis/intake workers.

Jefferson County Human Services (JCHS) outpatient mental health clinic accepts referrals from a variety of sources including consumers, parents and legal guardians of consumers, the Department of Corrections, medical professionals, and other JCHS divisions. Prior to clinic admission, prospective consumers of JCHS outpatient clinic services shall meet specific admission criteria and shall complete the clinic's intake and admission process.
